DINOSAURS ENJOY LAST DAY BEFORE EXTINCTION

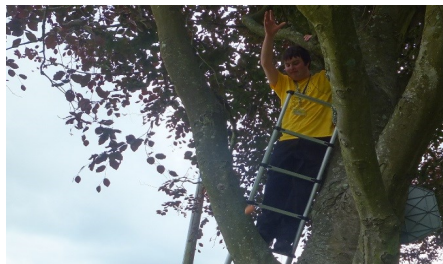

19th June 2016

Volume 1, Issue 2

After a break from Rally tradition in what was described by a SSAGO member as "on time", the morning got off to a good start with a delicious breakfast and a range of dino-themed games. As people departed for their various exciting activities, the weather fortunately didn't carry out it's threat of rain. While the exec enjoyed their 4 hour meeting in a hot room, everyone else enjoyed a delightful ceilidh, superb entries to the fancy dress competition and another great campfire. It's been another great day in the land of the dinosaurs!

EGG GATE

Eggpocalypse struck at the heart of SSAGO during the dino egg drop game yesterday morning which lead to an uneggpected result. Fortunately, SSAGO members didn't fear it was a shell-out and were able to crack the case by eggstending the height to increase eggcitement. If you're feeling down about this story, bring the sunny side up.

Eggs are harder to break than you think

DINOSAUR OF THE DAY

Bouncysaurus! Coming soon to a field near you..

Old Git's Agony Aunt

Dear Auntie Lope

I have a fairly urgent problem, do you have any idea how to get raptors out of a kitchen please?

Yours, Slightly nibbled

Dear Slightly Nibbled,

We suggest you try to shut them in the freezer. Good luck!

From, Auntie Lope

Dear Auntie Lope,

I've been offered an internship at InGen on their island lab. The thing is they seem really secretive and the contract doesn't have a death bonus...does this seem normal to you?

Yours, Concerned

Dear Concerned,

We've heard some strange rumours about dinosaur genetics at InGen... if you take the job we suggest you stay away from the bitey end.

From, Auntie Lope

Dear Auntie Lope,

I heard rumours of an asteroid hitting Rough Close on 18-20th November. Are the SSAGO dinosaurs worried about this?

From, the Associates.

Dear Associates,

We're pretty confident that there won't be asteroids at rough close but we can't guarantee that there won't be other space related things going on!

From, Auntie Lope

Dear Auntie Lope,

I managed to get one of the raptors into the freezer but the others are still out there, help me?

From, Very Nibbled

Dear Very Nibbled,

Get out of there quick and shut them in!

ELLI AND ALICE, CARDIFF SSAGS

Elli fell off a unicycle and broke her ankle, so couldn't walk around Brownsea Island. Instead, she got pushed around by Alice in a fancy trail wheelchair, and had a buggy tour of the island where the lovely driver took both Elli and Alice to the Trading Post and location of the first scout camp despite it not being on the route, as it would have been inaccessible otherwise. It was a great day!

MASCOT UPDATE

- Manchester stole and lost Sheffield Halam's mascot
- Cambridge's mascot was stolen by PLUGS
- Bristol and SAGUWE have now stolen each others

SSAGO GOSSIP

- Jonny Brown is descended from Lions
- Calum Browne and Bradley Burrell are the same person
- Oli Bills is a robot.
- James McMahon dies on pub crawl.
- Jamie Booth is actually two midgets put together.
